Why Does Your Business Need Employment Practices Liability Services?

Your business could be exposed to unmitigated risks if you do not have proper employee training and Employment Practices Liability Services. We created our speciality services to help you protect your business, executives, and employees from these risks. We help you create a compliant EEO policy, train your employees on EEO compliance, and prepare your business if a claim is brought against you.

What is Included in Employment Practices Liability Services?

Creation of Compliant Policies

The key to mitigating the risks posed by EEO litigation or complaints is having an effective, written EEO Policy. We help you with every aspect of creating a compliant EEO policy, from creation of the policy to ensuring its distribution and adoption throughout your business.

EEO Compliance Manuals

Once you have created an EEO policy, we help you turn that into a downloadable Compliance Manual that also includes EEOC Best Practice guidelines as well as applicable federal and state laws.

Multi-Media Training Platform

Training employees on EEO compliance is one of the most essential aspects of risk mitigation. We offer over thirty courses for training managers and supervisors, as well as resources for all employees. Courses and assessments may be accessed from any web-enable device, including smartphones and tablets.

Establishing Best Practices

We help you establish best practices for your business, using both guidelines from the EEOC and our own training, to prevent EEO claims and to implement procedures that are aimed at eliminating discrimination and promoting a safe work environment.
